Love Connection: Our Story, Ultimately His Story Lesa Childress
One woman – pregnant, broken, addicted to meth, homeless, and alone. Another woman - barren, broken, addicted to bitterness, empty, and alone. Two impossible stories-- no different from the many found in the pages of God's own. Beginnings deemed hopeless and sad as the odds continued to be stacked only to be concluded by God's grace with immeasurably more than could have been thought or asked. What does it look like when God's hand reaches down into a broken world, picks up a broken person and rescues them from their broken life? God's hand is so big that if He picks up one broken person, He can't help but pick up several. Our lives are purposed to change the lives of those around us; the day that we received that touch from God is the very day others received their promise. God has begun a Love Connection as others wait in expectancy for our story--they may not know yet--but our life that was just changed has ultimately changed theirs.
