The New England Reformed Journal Kindle Edition is the electronic reprint version of the theological publication of the exegetical, historical, systematic and practical theological works of the New England Reformed Fellowship. The New England Reformed Fellowship is a group of pastors and teachers from different churches, Presbyterian, Congregational, Baptist and others, who have a shared passion to be “able ministers of the new covenant,” proclaiming the “whole counsel of God,” for the edification of the church. This issue includes a helpful “Meditation on the Book of Judges,” a contemporary description of “The Character of an Old English Puritan,” a biography of an important but lesser known Rhode Island Puritan named Nathaniel Clap, as well as a book review and some other shorter but very valuable pieces.
