The Laws of Spiritual Heredity: What We Inherit From Our Ancestors Umberto Saba
As there are laws that govern the transmission of physical features, so too there are laws that ensure the transmission of spiritual characteristics from generation to generation. Such transmission is well documented in the Bible for the discerning believer to see. These characteristics are what we can call the "Spiritual DNA" that shows whose children we are. We inherit more features from our father or from our mother, but both are represented in us. We also inherit the blessing for their obedience to God as well as the curse for their disobedience until we do something about it and transmit in a modified form to our descendants what we have inherited. As we discover how they work, we learn how to break the power of inherited curses and turn them into blessings.
