GOD: The Science of Christ and the Unseen James Defares
God: the Science of Jesus and the Unseen is a massive work providing scientific and empirical evidence of the existence of God, Jesus and the divine. The evidence is offered as 'exhibits' like in a case. The scientific evidence that the shroud of Turin is authentic is one of the 'exhibits'. Other examples are the so-called 'bible-code' and fundamental arguments from physics, such as the 'fine-tuning' of critical physical constants. The author (freethinker and professor of mathematical biology) provides cogent arguments that atheism is a delusion and that Darwinism (not the fact of evolution) is invalid. Further, many existential questions, such as: 'Are we descended from the ape or created by God?' 'Is there life after death?' 'Does reincarnation exist?' 'Does praying make sense?', are discussed in an informal style. For full information and 'inside the book' (whole chapters are available) turn to www.scienceofgod.eu
