Great American Songs: Duets for Piano and Cello Vera Mattlin Jiji
Enjoy playing twenty-seven great songs picked from times past of popular American music, with special emphasis on the classics and standards from what we call the Great American Songbook. Includes music by Elvis Presley, Scott Joplin, Rodgers & Hammerstein II, Irving Berlin, George & Ira Gershwin, Cole Porter, Pete Seeger and more-all specially arranged for cello and piano. For each song you get complete sheet music, transposed and arranged for cello and piano. The collection provides a cross-section of gems from our musical history in a variety of musical styles, with songs and arrangements at skill levels beginner through intermediate. The book also comes with an audio MP3 CD with complete solo cello, solo piano and mixed track recordings for each song, for play-along practice and solo "plus 1" play. Introductions to each song, biographical sketches of key composers, and short essays on watershed moments in the evolution of American popular music put each song in the cultural context of its time. Plus every song has performance tips and hints for the cellist. Having a live partner while playing music offers both players emotional satisfaction of a deep and unique kind. Now, with this collection, cellists and pianists can enjoy that musical partnership with some of the best American popular music ever written.
